

This is a crazy idea. Having numerous cellular telephone users all speaking at the same time. Everyone trying to talk over the engine noise. Everyone trying to talk over each other. It will be loud, obnoxious and annoying. Business persons have been waiting out their flights to get back on their phones for years, they can still wait.